A photo found on the internet under search of "ISIS world map" is a map of both the Wahhabists and Salafists. The Wahhabists will target your troops; the Salafists will target your civilians. Evict the Wahhabists and I strongly consider executing all Salafists in the countries listed in Europe, Asia, and Africa. I can't understand how all denominations of Islam are somehow wrong to them without citing anything, if you look at groups like the Taliban they are separatists, not people trying to expand. The Taliban can happen in any religion but as far as Daesh goes I have no clue where their map came from. A friend of mine told me that in Libya, these so called Daesh fighters target all the Mosques in Libya, these fighters are insane and under mind control. They disguise themselves as hope for the future, yet they are not democratic in any way and chose to kill innocent civilians. They are not honest to the public and lack any rules to war. They use names such as the "Future Movement", "Ansar al-Sham", "Jaysh al-Islam", and the "Free Syrian Army" to name a few. For those who don't know, this is awful and is an end time's prophecy, we estimate that Islam will keep splitting into more and more groups throughout the Middle East with countries such as Jordan, Turkey, Oman, and Egypt to add to it. If you speak out against this, you are considered an enemy so it would collapse on their leader's accounts, if you wanted reform, it won't work the people will reject you. My opinion or the way I see it is that Islam is doomed to collapse because it keeps separating into groups not just Sunni Shia. I also want to add that the number of terrorist groups does not exceed more than 0.1% of all of Islam and they all live in the Middle East/ Afghanistan. In the future, this could change but so far nothing indicates that there are terrorists trying to conquer all of Europe and Asia. Now we have clowns claiming there is a radical Islamic element, and they claim to be Muslims, think of how bad it is that thanks to the internet people can send death threats to people. Instead of showing how wahhabism is going to take over countries and declare war on their neighbors. The problem is people in these countries don't like those who criticize the faith; instead of telling them to stop they send death threats. Suppose the death threats were to end, then we call these people not Muslims and that Islam is fine, the public will still see this and see the wars and say, "this is Islam". One controversial thing said by a scholar or by a guy who is lost; then you're an extremist. Everything in this book is controversial if not hatred and intolerance. These leaders be it in Saudi Arabia, the president, the pope, they have the platform, they will keep claiming peace it matters not what their actions are people will believe them over me. If you read the news, it is just another day, if we look stupid; there are tons of reports of awful material in the news that has nothing to do with religion. It has become too obvious to me that their enemies are Syria, Iran, Hezbollah, and Yemen Shiites, that is too convenient I'm not reaching by any means to claim they work for Israel. So why is it that on top of owning much if not all of the earth they also own the religion? This is to disguise the public to believe they own their countries, they don't; they don't even own the religion outside of the countries I had listed. We humans are powerless against these people, what may seem strong and mighty sure isn't reference Noah's Ark, who's in it? What you also don't know is people will lose their vigor, we get lazier

and lazier there will come a day when Islam seems oppressive simply because it has to be studied so therefore Sharia Law is unlawful. This is doomed to fail anyways you don't keep issuing verdicts on everything you see it will get distorted at some point. This will also fail because hint hint Arabs in UAE, Saudi Arabia, Qatar, Kuwait is taught they are superior to others, I have not one problem with this the problem is this can or rather will corrupt them and will turn them evil to where they hate anyone who isn't them thinking they own Medina hence why they will be expelled from it as part of End Times. What also wouldn't shock me is if they are believe I am their enemies for trying to do Hajj something that is mandated.

The Wahhabists in Saudi Arabia believe that all other denominations of Islam must go, that's their priority; it is in their constitution. By state recognition or rather fact all Christians are considered Muslims, but they don't allow for Churches in their country. They willingly broke the Constitution of Medina; they have to allow for Churches to be there. There is no animosity towards Christians it is just a rule and a belief that they hate Christians when they couldn't care less. However, in Saudi Arabia, Shiites are not allowed to be used as witnesses in court. A Christian can go there, beat up a Shiite in their neighborhood and the courts will almost for a certainty find him innocent if he grinned and said, "the Shiite struck me first" and there would be no witnesses to find the Shiite innocent of hitting him. This is what people believe is that Shia's don't deserve justice, it is just in people's brains as a Sunni do you see how hard this is for me to want justice for people I don't support? Hence why I said I was a good kid in college now I'm a Muslim this is what is going to happen atleast I believe where no one will want justice for each other whether Sunni Christian, Shia etc. it is unfortunate of course religion is corrupting people's brains thankfully I don't wish this on them. Nimr Al Nimr was told by the police "all you Shia's should be killed", innocent people are being taught this I'm so shocked if Christians are taught Muslims deserve to be killed how this will corrupt Europe there goes justice. On a side note, Nimr wanted to quit his day job, before you criticize Muslims try a day of his shoes where only a few around the world will listen then realize how bold humans really are to accept death knowing that could be me or you. In Saudi Arabia, it is a feel good time teaching "Islam" to young adults where they get attached to the Quran and their "imams", even the person who hates Islam the most is susceptible to this it no doubt is a good time learning knowledge and history with someone they get along with. To them, I'm the bad Muslim teaching that the world cannot be united and that the Saud's are trying to achieve this "peace". What is going on here is not ok, it is fine if you are a born Muslim or if you believe Islam is peace, if you want to explain the message of Islam that people are dying because of what they think is religion, I say that you better be sure of the faith when people in Syria are dying by those who claim to be Islamic. It is all evil; they (being Satan and his allies) have come up with names and ways to control people to make them believe they are fighting for Islam. This includes the "free Syrian army" fighting for "democracy"; the difference being what is promised to the Syrians is destruction of Syria with the next generation being at war with each other as outlined by Bashar Al-Assad in an interview. By labeling Assad a non-muslim, people will believe on it, it gets dangerous where if Bashar lost, then Israel would be targeted attacking people for not being Muslim in a war they cannot win. It makes people of all faiths wonder what Muslim leaders of any generation would think of this, I certainly do not wish this on people of other faiths having traitors and those who are astray hide in religious centers.

This is what happens to some people, they want everything their way somehow thinking Saudi Arabia would be better off not having Christians but accepting them as foreign workers. Look at Bahrain; it is far worse off treating Shiite's like second class citizens. You might very well think you are in America where their Constitution can add and subtract Amendments; that must have been where you got the idea from. That is how stupid you are to argue with me. My only advice would be to go outside and meet a Christian, tell him you think he should not have a Church in Arabia but then tell him that it is persecution if his home country doesn't allow for a Mosque. If it requires you getting laughed at is what it takes to get you to realize what People of the Book means, I will join that guy in laughing at you. This is about liberation, not fighting with those who don't agree with being People of the Book. I agree with you 100% that the Quran is a dream come true. Where in the Zoroastrian text, Torah, Bible, or Quran does it say that you can force convert or harm People of the Book? Wahhabism is purposely falsely classified as Sunni where there is 85% Sunni. It is meant to wage war on Sunni's. These people don't get it; you don't condemn America but expect other countries to fix the mess that you could have been against. That is hypocrisy because if your Saudi Arabia invaded America, you would condemn whoever invaded you don't blame the American people for a war you now support. How can you not spend two seconds to type into the internet to see that you are working with American troops? Others might just be saying "this will end soon", no it won't here is my proof. America left Iraq and now everyone knows they have their hand in Iraq. While I cannot say that Saudi Arabia is directly funding them, many rich people from within Saudi Arabia are arming Salafist groups.....see what I did there? People's lives are at risk, not yours you evil figure. How does it feel to know that you would leave Saudi Arabia if not for the money? Why don't you personally take a trip to Iraq and tell them what you are doing, see what happens. Saudi Arabia has all of the information on these snakes but they will not reveal it to the public. The few leaders that do pray (there is no video of them doing it), why are they facing towards Mecca if the third temple is in Palestine? These two are separate religions but not to them. The entire Saud regime is a failure, they do it for money and the emphasis while may be on Islam secondary is them they view the entire history before it has irrelevant it is like with catholicism you get what you pay for. I don't want to judge the Saudi people, first off I don't live there second I don't like Islam, I like Arab culture but Islam runs Saudi Arabia this isn't a stereotype, I blame the system if anything. They've also stolen the Black Stone; that isn't the real Black Stone that people are touching.

Americans are free to go visit Saudi Arabia in fact they will treat you like one of their own although you are only allowed to stay for two years. This all gets messed up, if Christians are evil, why aren't Americans for being not Muslim? The Wahhabists are taught in schools to hate all non Wahhabists that does not stretch to any real Sunni-Shia group. That's why they attack in Yemen. This is why Kuwait undercut the oil in the 90's. They will let the Zionists take part of Arabia because they are not their worry. An Al Qaeda member who was under the enemy's hospitalization from the Syrian War said and I quote "Israel is my friend." Bashar Al Assad referred to Wahhabism as the "Wahhabi ideology," I take it as the same as "the Conservatism ideology." Pay close attention to this sentence, if you talk to a Wahhabists representative and you ask the question "do you support killing, force conversions, or peaceful means to end all Sunni and Shiite Muslims?" they must respond with the answer "yes" and maybe they will also say "we believe those are not the true Sunni's" because of Wahhabists doctrine or else they are deceiving you or they are wrong about their own Wahhabism. There is also no Caliph within or leading ISIL because they are following Wahhabism; you are being lied to about this. However most if not all within Daesh want a united Caliphate, if their soldiers knew this fact then they would put down their arms. In theory, I would let them create their own state in Iraq, but the reality is that many of the Wahhabists will not stop fighting. It is a matter of saving the ones who don't want to fight because it is illogical to allow them to strike those around them; this is bad for both sides. It's not that I want or don't want to hurt them; it's that I have to. This is not about revenge for what they've done; it's about keeping the next generation safe regardless of if we are depicted as the aggressors in their eyes. Many of these people including the fighters are innocent, think twice about hating these people. We can't bump them into another country, they are people too. Hopefully we can ship the ones who are not Iraqi citizens back to their home countries because I feel it is not fair for the Iraqi's. If the only answer is moving them into Kuwait for them to deal with, then that's what will happen but that is the last possible resort. What makes Daesh such a threat to Islam is that they will fight where ever the Caliphate is present within the map. That means half of Africa, almost all of West Asia, Spain, a part of South Russia, almost all of South Europe and all of the Middle East could be struck at any time. That's why one of them killed a police officer in Saudi Arabia. They keep attacking in Chechnya; we can only give the people of Chechnya their independent country if they get rid of them. They support killing innocents in other countries, but they do not, Al Nusra Front does. We have to get these people out of European countries, so they won't strike us. It makes no sense to try to reason with them. To make matters worse, 80,000 children have died as a result of starvation from the Saud food Red Sea blockade.

We must shut down all of their "Mosques" and throw them in jail right now. We can even work with the Muslims in South Europe, they are on our side. What these people are doing in Europe is not Islamic because they are conquering the West but are doing it in hiding. It's not working too, it makes people hate Islam.

They are massive hypocrites because they do not allow for people to mass migrate to Qatar. They are not allowed to breed an ethnicity out of existence. I knew this was not a joke when I saw that Nimr Al Nimr along with 46 others, most of who were Sunni's were executed for "espionage", people are trying to do the right thing. Do not protest there, you have been warned. There will not be independence there, you put others' lives at risk, you get up and leave if you don't agree with it. What people don't get in the west, Saudi Arabia could be fixed in under a year, it is a dump; so many people there are so rude or are just strange and are nothing like the West. They really think they are the best thing to happen to the world, but they are not aware that nobody likes them, if not for money they would not be welcomed into other countries, people would laugh at them rightly so. People want to leave Saudi Arabia, they would too if not for the money. You get no freedom in these countries at all, look at Bahrain, their government now has to go; nobody wants that worthless monarch. You people who do nothing are either selfish or are stupid to let this go on, the West always blames Islam; you are the problem, not them. You don't wreck the image of Islam by sitting around and doing nothing about it, you are the last person to be allowed to run a country. These people's denomination does not have a marriage age, gross! Someone who thought this up is so sick I don't even know where to begin. Don't fall into believing that Wahhabism is doing what is best for Islam, that's what they want you to think. No Muslim sends an airstrike on a wedding in Yemen on innocent civilians, there are just things we as human never do. That is beyond awful, I can't put it in words how stupid many people in the West are to overlook it but somehow blame Islam. It's worse than that, no person in Yemen attacked the Saud's ever. I don't need to study Islam to know that is never allowed. The UN has failed the world for sweeping this under the rug; someone clearly owns it because I would not allow an ally to buy their way out of this, it would be the last day I had them as an ally in fact I would seek their demise for ordering such an attack. Islam does not allow the killing of innocents; that is terrorism. Killing innocents is not a just cause which is what jundullah who is funded by America, Saudi Arabia, Israel and Al-Qaeda is doing in Iran and Pakistan. That is the "radical islam" they talk about on the news, a minority of a minority that are brainwashed and do not listen to anything believing they are never wrong where all else are wrong.

Finally, they say we are against Islam for preventing foreign fighters from other countries to come into the Middle East to fight the wars. What they are doing is illegal based on borders. No country would accept foreigners who try to conquer them, the same goes for Syria. While I'm fine with foreign fighters when two countries go to war or if one country invades another and needs them to protect it, I don't support foreigners during a civil war since it is amongst the people living in the country. Most would agree with my stance on this. What I can't get over is that first the US government wrecks the Iraqi military and imposes a group with foreign fighters and trained fighters in Iraq to use on the Iraqi civilians. The Iraqis can't fight to hold them off because all of the U.S. weapons and tanks were handed to Daesh.

Meanwhile Daesh is being bombed by many countries, so it is either join Daesh or leave Iraq. Daesh in no way reflects the Iraqi people and others will not see past that. Thankfully there is the Iraq military to help, they saved the day even if the Sunni's despise the Shiite's who run the military. So next time someone says "we keep America safe, this country is not safe without us" boldly, think of what you've just done to innocent people.

Both Salafists and Wahhabists are part of ISIL which means they accept each other, I am not sure exactly if the real purpose of them is a common cause or if they would fight each other. Oman is also the enemy because of its leaders. The religion the enemy puts first is Talmudism. Wahhabism was invented back in the 18th century by a British spy called Hempher to end the Ottoman Empire by killing all non Wahhabists. The Ottoman Empire was overwhelmingly Sunni, and this meant that it would divide Sunni's with each other to get them to go to battle. This report was later published by the Ottoman Empire for the public to view. Muhammad Wahhab, a man living in the desert had worked with the Saud family who are crypto Jews meaning they retained their "Jewish" beliefs with Islamic practices. Wahhab's friend Muhammad bin Saud is of Jewish descent as well from the Jew (Mardakhai bin Ibrahim bin Mushi). This meant that they retained their Talmudism while picking up Islamic practices as a way of going into hiding. Muhammad bin Saud saw a great opportunity to have a friend who would kill Islamic people with the help of the British which would bring Saud closer to his goal of the Third Temple, as long as Saud did Wahhabism in the newly formed Saudi State, they would work together as one. Therefore, Muammar Gaddafi was unable to meet with the Saud King because he would go in hiding, they would even shut off his microphone when he spoke at times. We believe that Muhammad fought these types of people for good, but they never left Arabia, they were still a minority a thousand years later. All it takes is one clan who blended in with the public in order to hide their identity. Wahhab who was living in Basra Iraq was described as a "young hothead" who sounds awfully familiar to Karl Marx. Wahhab was from Najd Arabia but was kicked out for telling others to use traditions that were not in the Sunnah (just reading that is hilarious, they would keep adding and removing traditions because of him). They even gave him a chance to make his case which he was not able to. Wahhab held such beliefs that Jews and Christians were sorcerers and devil worshippers. To relate this to today, how often do you see someone in their 20's on Fox News attempt to require others to pay for their college? If you don't do what they want, you're a racist. Point being, they can't accept being wrong. This stuff happens, Wahhab thought it was acceptable to have all Sunni's executed because he thought there were practices in the Sunnah were not there, he couldn't get his way. Without a doubt, this is evil at its core; Wahhab was a Sunni killer, anything but a scholar of Islam. Mr. Hempher a British spy fabricated a dream that Prophet Muhammad visited him in a dream and Prophet Muhammad told Najd that you are the greatest, Najd believed Mr. Hempher. Muhammad of Najd was to state that the Kaaba was an idol and that he would destroy it he was to have tribes attack the people living there; he didn't do this. Muhammad of Najd was to produce a false Quran with false hadith's. Muhammad of Najd was to put emphasis on schooling and take away elders and family members from teaching Islam, unlike communism we have to listen to the elders and parents. Do you know what makes all of these people special? They don't read the Quran, or they try to alter it, it says in the Quran in 56:79 that Satan tells them not to and all of these people want this "third" temple. What's the point of reading the Quran if you didn't know the world would end? What humans don't know is once you read the Quran there is no going back, life becomes boring, we Muslims aren't interested in really doing anything, I already talked about this but I try to explain that look life isn't fun, if the wahhabists mess up the hadith's then yes life will become enjoyable which is not the purpose of life talk to many scholars they will tell you life is boring.

It all makes sense because the British would not just hand Kuwait over its independence, Kuwait even fought on their side in WWI. Even back in the 18th century, the British would find people who would defect from empires, and these would be two people who would do so. Don't quote me on this, but I bet good money that an original source will say that Wahhabism was invented as its own thing and not as Sunni, the goal was to execute all Sunni's after all, it would be passed off as a "new movement", I highly doubt it would be inside of Sunni because if it was than people in the 18th century would side with the Sunni's and not the Wahhabists. Why is this important? They have to declare to the public that they are not Sunni, they have not; this would wreck them internally. Salafists meanwhile are hiding inside of Sunni. They would have to call Wahhabism "New Wahhabism" which they will not do, then people will know the British invented it, from there they would reform it because these people are duped, they know it started in the 18th century, but they do not know where it originated from. Think about it, if the citizens knew the British invented it then they would do the exact opposite, so they have to keep persecuting Shiite's in Arabia under several lies. A good way to think of it is the "Wahhabi ideology"; you wouldn't call it Sunni Islam since no source since Muhammad says to wage war with other Muslims. It matters not if they are Wahhabists that just means they have different methods of the same goal same with Conservatism and Socialism. There is going to be disagreement amongst them, and they are ok with it even if they get mad at each other; that's politics explained for you. Somehow it took the US government over 10 years to find Osama Bin Laden after the invasion of Afghanistan. The hijackers were seen parting in Florida bringing their Qurans with them; I've never heard of a Muslim who does this.

These people ban Bibles in Saudi Arabia; they want you to think the Quran is separate when the Quran mentions both the Gospel and Torah by name. Read this one verse and tell me who is right "We gave him the Gospel containing guidance and light, verifying that which was before it of the Torah, and guidance and an admonition for the dutiful" Quran 5:46. Are they seriously arguing that there is not guidance and light in the Bible despite it being corrupted? If that is not ridiculous enough, these people are taught "the Crusades have never ended", can you find one Christian in the entire world who seeks to force convert these people? Writing some of this material makes me wonder if they are serious or not, don't you trade with these countries? That would make you so stupid to do so, you would have to run the other countries politicians in effort to prevent these Christian Americans who will "stop at nothing" to force convert you when the ones who really don't like you just don't want you in their countries probably because you would try banning the Bible wait till they are told that, go poll this information, I'm right. Go up to one of these people and introduce yourself if they walk away, then they don't even care about your country. What you are guilty of is slander by claiming that they are plotting to overthrow your beloved Saudi Arabia. Another problem is that they can't be stopped, often they are recruited from the internet. However, I've noticed an imam in his 50's saying "ban tom and jerry"; this sprung me into action without me second guessing what he had just said. I should add that the mistake people make is they think the text being the hadiths are responsible, when it is the exact opposite; it is preachers not the knowledge being given. They are creating false hadiths in Saudi Arabia; this will confuse Imam's and will continue to divide into more sects of Islam, we won't know which is correct and which is false because the scholars have facebook pages and repost them, there is no search engine of hadith's that say yes or no if it is false or not I have to check the hadith collection. There could be over 100 schools of Sunni Islam. This is terrible because it isn't about who is right and who is wrong, it is about unity we need Syria we can't be divided and we know the Arab Gulf Council will allow their countries to crash, we won't know who the wahhabists and the salafists are all we know is someone is trying to wreck it. What can we do, audit who walks in? They don't have a name badge. What is the point of the test if we can't trust people? It is fine if we are divided it is not ok if people who support Israel keep walking in at first it seems funny but no it isn't. Also, if Islam is viewed as something oppressive and it seems to be, whole countries will leave it for good, Christianity will not take its place in these countries. The teens in countries such as Turkey are beginning to ask too many questions as to why evil wins at times. We are getting dumber and dumber, it is hard to believe when they teach the Quran to the youth, but their kids will reject it over time so more generations of people who put in no effort at all. There is an importance to teaching the Quran, they may not see it but there is when these people's kids are dumb, they don't swallow the pill that's it for the earth people have to accept reality and it happens that the Quran is teaching us reality. A generation will not come along and restore faith; you had made the world a worse place you have to pay attention during the sermons it matters not if attendance goes up or if they Mosques are gigantic. Faith is complete trust in something, if countries don't have faith in Islam, then what could happen knowing how necessary it is to be disciplined? Back at home what I don't understand is why we put children and kids in Islam, you're already profiled in America; being Muslim is a choice made in your 20's and 30's. You better know what you are signing up for, at that age you can't. I guess oh well too bad earth. Read the hadith's this is not a joke, they will throw you in Hell for writing in a false hadith. Does that sound like something targeted for teens or kids? Look at how a curtain is set up for women, you may think sexist, I think serious. Something is going wrong with the earth beyond the saud’s, but we don’t see it, if I saw it then I would share it with you. I know nothing; I only know what is going on. I used to think politicians here were sick now I'm convinced they didn't put any thought into this at all. Once these false hadiths are written in just you wait I warned you that we will see people do some taboo stuff as I warned before we can show people the damage they've done in Yemen, and they won't listen. Humans will believe or do anything even if it is immoral for some reason, we don't know why they do this now they see all these people telling them to stop and they still don't listen. I have nothing wrong with people who are wrong and argue with me, however religion is an institution, they have rules we can't have 20 percent correct and 80 percent wrong. We don't even have time to fact check given all of the news and history, if you ask me these questions I will forget what we see on the news and online are all lies on top of scripture debates you don't have time for that read this first and then read the scripture we know this will get ruined we don't know how. Also, people of all ages will keep turning back and back to the scholars, this is awful and it cannot run itself forget if the scholars were right or wrong they won't listen to anything not because the West is "attacking" them it is for another reason they don't know anything else countries shouldn't be run that way but I have no say this is for all Islamic countries not just the ones who are ruining the faith where we cannot criticize scholars or leaders meaning there is no critical thinking at all we are allowed difference in opinion. Once I point this out I'm just another controversial opinionated person or someone who is misguided in some way while the public in many countries are taught if you question what you were raised on then you go to Hell. A problem could emerge where we are too religious; this is a theory I could be right don't get me wrong religion has done a fortune for our countries. I'm not the correct person to speak on this, you would need to talk to a Prophet this is something a human cannot write about I'm a philosopher I didn't write Islam or humanity.

I had known these people are liars all along, I thought the Saud's were scared about being shut down by America. Also, it turns out today that the Saud family is passing off Hadith's written by their scholars as fact and expectation; they are in serious trouble of running their own count. I don't need to tell you this because you know they have to sign off what they've written in Hadith's. That isn't something you just brush off. So often people call Islam a "cult" if your religion says not share material with others, you're in a cult, the religious groups I had listed before are cults, no other world religions are cults, but these are, the Dönmeh Jew cult is no different, religions aside from Islam are just incorrect. My point being cults are running the earth where they get everyday people to do the work for them. Every single Saudi Arabia supporter is a fake Dönmeh Jew. I estimate at least 20 million supporters between the Arab Gulf Council, add on Jordan, Pakistan, and Turkey and you are looking at around 220 million fake Dönmeh Jews. There is no way around it, they take pride in targeting Shiite's in Arabia, but they don't evict them knowing that Islamic scholars will pick up that they are evil. They know their citizens aren't very wise, if they saw Shia Islam as better than most of their citizens would switch.

We can't talk the Wahhabists into striking the enemy first since there are many people who claim to be Islamic who support the enemy in wars against us. If they were not a third party in the war, they would be exposed rightly since that is picking a side unless if the enemy agreed to hand these claiming to be Islamic over to them already which could be possible, we would have to ask first. They will keep arming ISIL to use on specifically the Muslims. It is important people get this because Jews and Christians are never to be targeted so long as they are a minority in the areas they want (view map). They do everything in hiding which is illegal in Islam since they have to declare war on us first. This is why you want Iran instead of them on our side because they fight by our side. Allah knows the Christians will help out those who are under attack; they are required to fight them. We will protect them at all costs in our countries even if worst comes to worse and we are the only ones left to keep them safe. We will even let them take refuge in our countries, we will not hand them over to you, ever. Whatever genocide Wahhabists are doing will not work. The Wahhabists at the top are definitely in on it if they are funding the "Muslim Brotherhood." I will never support them or allow them to attack us. Even if all Muslims were Wahhabists they would still side with the enemy and let us get attacked, they would never arm us against the enemy. It states very clearly in the Quran that "there must be no coercion in matters of faith" Quran 2:256. I view this as anticipation of the Sunni, Shiite. And do not take any human beings' life- that Allah willed to be sacred - other than [in the pursuit of] justice" Quran 17:33. They would not send us into the west as invaders, they wouldn't do that if they could get away with it and that's a fact. I know the Salafist movement is an offshoot, whatever they do in foreign countries is fraud, deport every single last one of them; I will leave it at that. He was also described as a hero in the fight against the Soviets in Afghanistan by American media, there is a newspaper of it that you can find online. This is coming from someone who would have been excited to fund him against the Soviet Union in the 80's because I would have much rather have been under his leadership than the Soviet Union with the knowledge. Lookup on the internet Qatari princess Shaikha Salwa and Saudi prince Majed bin Abdullah bin Abdulaziz, Adel al-Jubier (yikes), if these people are doing this on weekends since this definitely was not the first time for them and they don't see the damage they are doing for their home country, then let's hope for their countries to end and for them to be sent to America. These three cases were in under a three-month span, that's not an accident. I don't think they got the beating of a lifetime; they don't deserve your honor nor do their countries for allowing this.

Like the rest of the people of the Middle East, those fighting against us in Syria do what you think is best for Islam and they only accept what is best for Islam even if that means fighting, I can admire that dedication. Bashar and I both agree that Syria will go in the wrong hands if the war is lost which means Lebanon will fall with it, so the war must be won on our parts. The answer I have come up with is allowing the Sunni troops to form their own troops with their own Sharia Law separate of the military where they decide when to go to war and when not to as long as they do not attack Syria directly. This gives them the freedom to attack neighbors when they deem it necessary, and Syria will protect them. A united Syria gives us a chance to better the economy instead of deciding what is ours and what is theirs which could lead to border disputes.

Saudi Arabia Failure:

- are taught the Crusades are still ongoing (wow)

- their country helped fund 9/11

- America is their ally while America is the Zionist ally

- they harass Shiites shooting guns in neighborhoods at night

- ban all churches and synagogues

- they write in false hadith's (they will be going to Hell for that)

- introduced the niqab

- label atheists as "terrorists" (I'm without words)

The US government is caught in the biggest lie yet. The 9/11 families seek justice. Many in congress believe that the Saudi government is linked to 9/11. The Saudis cannot dispute it given the intelligence the Saudi government had and the money that would have been involved to have the attack happen. At the very least, they didn't do enough to stop the 15 citizens living in Saudi Arabia. The Saudi government does not want the stigma of an attack they claim they were not responsible for, they've threatened sanctions which may or may not be a mistake since us USA citizens will perceive it as them lying. Congress has allowed for the families to sue Iran although there is no link whatsoever. The Saudi government does not want the "28 pages" that would convince most they were responsible for 9/11. If the Saudi government was responsible, why was there no action taken? Was it because of oil deals? This is classified as a conspiracy theory. Never mind this; Saud government is on the same team as our enemy. My only guess is that they don't want hostility towards American and the Saudi Arabian people since they are both on the same side and an invasion would mean the two might not want to be on the same side which they will need to be to conquer Syria. If Saudi Arabia was involved, why was there no invasion? This all relates since we got two wars in Afghanistan and Iraq from it. We know Osama Bin Laden didn't do 9/11 since he took arms from America in the 80's against the Soviets. We know that Talmudists knew the attack was going to happen; look up Larry Silverstein the guy did miss his daily breakfast that day. So, an appointment was scheduled for that exact day? I don’t believe that at all.
